Complete as the transformation has been, there are still traces of ecclesiastical origin in the ordinary routine of the Middle Temple. The men dine together in messes of four in accordance with the old rule of the Knights Templar. which required that two and two should eat together, and that all the fragments should be given in brotherly charity to the domestics. The servants are known as paniers, as in the era of the Knights Templar, and recalcitrant members are punished by being put out of commons as in the old monkish days. The Temple still has a master and a church, and while the benchers no longer have the long beards of the Knights Templar, they are influenced in many ways by the ecclesiastical associations of one of the most famous establishments of Mediæval

In one respect, as Mr. Pitt-Lewis points out, step backward would be in the direction of rational progress. During the reign of Edward til the common lawyers with the encouragement of the Crown founded what was practically e university of law, with Sergeants' Inns. from which instructors or readers could call apprenopened to barristers and attorneys alike, and with Inns of Chancery, where education for the law began with the copying of writs and other details of office work. This old-time university of law also gave in Tudor days what was considered a liberal education in literature, art and peared with the abolition of the Sergeants' Inns and Inns of Chancery, and with the exclusion of solicitors from the colleges of law; and while a call to the bar is no longer based exclusively upon a record of meals eaten in commons, but the education and training of harristers is far less scientific than in America, France, Germany and many Continental countries. If there were a university of law in any adequate sense, the British Empire would have what it now lacks-a school in which the broad princomprehensive spirit.

The Inns of Court, with their glimpses of pictpresque courts, secluded nooks and gardens and heautiful old brick architecture, are so delightful to the eye that the visitor wandering about at random is not disturbed by the reflection that presents a strong argument in favor of the establishment in London of a university of law worthy of the dignity of the empire. While atlowing the Inner Temple, the M'ddle Temple, Lincoln's Inn and Gray's Inn to govern them selves, as they now do, he would bind them together as the foundation walls of a university; he would replace Sergeants' Inns with an incor porated council of legal education, in which the Law Society as well as the Inns of Court torneys as well as barristers be provided for and he would also permit the Indian Empire and the colonies, the King's Inn in Dublin and the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland to have a voice in the regulation of the teaching staff and the course of instruction. The scheme is an intricate one, yet the purpose is practical and clear. It is to convert these isolated colleges of law surviving from mediaval conditions into a comprehensive university for the study of jurisprudence and the professional training of parristers and solicitors. The island of Motulti, or Kennedy Island, which has appeared on the charts since the beginning of the century, was scarched for in vein by the Mohawk. It is thought the island, like Falcon island, has sunk beneath the waves.

A MASSACRE IN THE SOUTH SEA. TRAGIC END OF A TRADING VOYAGE TO THE

SOLOMON ISLANDS

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 9.-The steamer Warrign errived yesterday from Australian points. She brings news of a South Sea massacre. The Sea Ghost was the name of a sixteen-ton cutter which was recently chartered for the island trade. She was in charge of Captain Koleborn, and her crew consisted of half a dozen nutives recruited in the Biamarck Archipelago. Two months ago the cutteset out from New-Britain on a trading cruise, with goods for bartering with the natives. The cutter sailed under the German tri-color. The Sea Ghost made for the German Solomon Islands. These islands are just off the British Solomons, and were annexed by Germany a few years ago. The natives are described as a fine race, but traders visiting the group are warned to be on their guard against possible attack, as they are noted for being both cunning and treacherous.

It was at one of these islands, called Hoka, that the Sea Ghost made her first coll. See had hardly reached her anchorage before there was an attack on the crew by short mailves. The attack was so Sudden that the crew could offer no resistance, and all but two, who encaped, fell an easy prey to the spears of the natives. Captain Koishorn was descending from the rigging when the attack was made. Being unarmed, he had no possible chance of defending himself, and fell mortally wounded on the deck, his body heing horribly bulchered. Two of the crew were taken prisoners, but they managed to escape. Meanwhile the vessel had been had asked to escape. Meanwhile the vessel had been had asked to escape. Meanwhile the vessel had been had asked to four of the crew were taken to the bodies of four of the crew were taken to the village for a cannibalistic feast.

A report of the massacre has been sent to the captain's body had been thrown overboard, and the septain of the German warship Faike, and steps will be taken to send a punitive expedition to the Islands.

The Mohawk has proceeded to the Santa Crus the Sea Ghost made her first call. She had hardly

THE LAFAYETTE MONUMENT FUND.

A circular letter indorsed by the Archbishop was read in all of the Roman Catholic churches of the Archdiocese of New-York yesterday appealing to the children of the public and parochini schools for the children of the public and parochiai schools for funds to build a monument to General Lafayette over his deserted grave in Paris. The project is in the hands of the American Commissioners of the Exposition, who hope to have the monument completed in time for dedication on October 4, 1939, during the Paris Exposition. At the suggestion of the Archdishop, Wednesday, October 19, has been set aside as "Lafavette Day," and will be celebrated with entertainments and patriotic recitations in the Schools, the receipts from which will be given to the manument fund.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FUNERAL OF GEORGE D. SAXTON.

MR. M'KINLEY TO PROCEED TO OMAHA TO-NIGHT-MRS. M'KINLEY TO STAY IN

Canton, Ohio, Oct. 9 .- The homecoming of President and Mrs. McKinley to-day for the funeral of George D. Saxton was attended with a touching scene at the Pennsylvania station. Many people were there when the train arrived. and extended to the party a silent but sympathetic welcome. The party arrived on the Pittsthetic welcome. The party arrived on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago express at 10:25 o'clock, travelling in the special car Campania. M. C. Barber, the President's brother-in-law, was at the station with several friends of the family, and Dr. Framfeulter, who was called to take charge of Private John Barber, the sick

The President and Mrs. McKinley were first out of the car. They were accompanied by Postmaster George B. Frease through the station to the carriage in waiting. As they approached, the crowd, with heads uncovered and bowed, sliently opened a passageway for them. Mrs. McKinley was supported by the arm of the President with the care and close attention he always devotes to her personal comfort. Mrs. Barber, Mrs. McKinley's sister, was next off the train, and was joined by her husband. Webb C. Haves followed.

John Barber was carried from the train by his brother, George Barber, who had gone from New-York to Washington to join the party, and for several weeks been ill from typhoid fever in Washington, where his mother and Mrs. Kinley have been nursing him, first at the White House and later at Garfield Hospital.

Miss Helen McKinley, the President's sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart A. Bowman, of Lorain, the latter the President's niece, who started with the party from Washington, left the train at Pittsburg to take another road.

The President and his party went direct to th Barber home, which is the old Saxton homestead, and was the Canton home of the McKinleys during the President's service in Congress. Mrs. McKinley soon lay down for a little rest, and at 1:30 o'clock dinner was served to the family. Mrs. McKinley bore up remarkably and was able to be about the house.

Except when the President, accompanied by Mrs. Barber, took a short walk on the side streets near the house, the party remained in the house all day. Many flowers are being received from friends of the President and the family. Persons in Washington placed many on

The funeral arrangements were concluded after the arrival of the party. The services are to be held in the Barber home at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon, and they will be private. The Rev. O. B. Milligan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will officiate. The body will be attended by Judge George E. Baldwin, William A. Lynch, George B. Frease, J. H. Kenney, David B. Smith and James J. Grant as pall-bearers. The burial will take place in West Lawn Cemetery in the Saxton family lot.

THE ORGANIZATION.

"Grosse New-Yorker Zeltung" this morning publishes the following, under the headline, "Citizens, Open Your Eyes!"

zens, Open Your Eyes!"

What a fine, convenient thing it is to have a political organization on the Jack-in-the-box principle; now you see it, and now you don't.

You—if you happen to be the proprietor of the box—press the button, presto! Out comes the devil and scares the little children. You have a good laugh, ha! ha! push "Jack" back into the box and close the lid. The thing is done. Probatum est.

The bluff, honest Germans who joined the late German-American Reform Union with excellent intentions certainly never dreamed that Messrs, Ridder and Tamsen would play Jack-in-the-box with them; that they will be treated to-night to a scare-devil performance, in order to frighten them out of their wits, or rather, out of the lidea they may have of voting for Theodore Roosevelt, and to win them over to Tammany—that same Tammany that gave the German-Americans such a resounding kick last year.

that gave the German-Americans such a resounding kick last year.

For Mr. Herman Ridder has the audacity to call a meeting of a political organization that has ceased to exist legally and otherwise—the German-American Reform Union, it is a mere grand bluff. A few days ago Mr. Ridder issued an invitation to the quondam members of the Executive Committee of the defunct German-American Reform Union, to attend a meeting to be held to-night in their former rooms in the Grand Central Palace, corner Forty-fourth-st and Lexington-ave. The "Grosse New-Vorker Zeitung" was honored to such an invitation merely as a news item—and, to say that it was a genuine surprise is putting it midly. The invitation is signed by Mr. Julius A. Zibell, as chairman of the Executive Committee, and as Mr. Ridder's card was inclosed with each invitation, there could be no doubt as to the authenticity of the call.

who was at the bottom of it. The facts as ted by careful and conscientious research are The German-American Reform Union has these:

The German-American Reform Union has not held any meetings since the campaign of last fail, and the district organizations have gone to pieces. A number of ex-members of these organizations who were questioned about the matter expressed their regrets at the outcome, but added: "It could not be heiped, as Mr. Ridder had repeatedly stated that he was out of politics, and could reader no further aid to the Union." Messar, Tamsen and Amend, the other two shining lights of the Union, echoed Mr. Ridder's sentiments.

Imagine, therefore, the surprise of these people when said circular calling a meeting of the Executive Committee of the German-American Reform Union. "Why I thought we were dead and buried," was the general comment. The said, but true. The German-American Reform Union is dead and buried to all aims and purposes. Section 2 of the bylaws of the defunct organization read:

"Meetings—Regular meetings of the General Committee will be held monthly, in the first part of each month; during the months of June, July and August these moetings may be suspended. The president has power to call special meetings. He must call a special meeting on testition signed by eighteen delegates of as many different Assembly districts, giving sool reasons for the necessity of a special meeting."

Section 7 of the constitution read:

"Election of Delegates—The business year of the a special meeting."

Section 7 of the constitution read:
"Election of Delegates.—The business year of the organization runs from September to September. At the regular May meeting of each year the General Committee designates the time during which election of delagates for the ensuing year shall take place, such elections to be held in every Assembly district under the directions of three inspectors of election and in conformity with the laws of the State and the orders of the General Committee, the president to appoint one of the inspectors, the remaining five being elected by the district organization."

the president to appoint one of the inspectors, the remaining five being elected by the district organization.

But nothing of the kind has taken place, and therefore the German-American Reform Union is legally and practically as dead as the proverbial deormall. And, in the light of the further fact that Herman Ridder but a few days ago asserted most emphatically that the German-American Reform Union would take no part in the present cameaign, and that, personally, he was out of politics, it certainly seems strange new, this suiden call to arms to revive the German-American Reform Union for the indorsement of the Democratic ticket.

It does seem strange, but it is not so, after all. A short time ago Mr. Ridder did say that the (meaning evidently his) indorsement of the Democratic ticket would be dependent on the nominations to be made "later on"; that it would be the proper thing to wait a whose yet. Then suddenly this "receival meeting" was spring on the unsuspecting burghers. It came simultaneously with an invitation from Mr. Croker to Mr. Ridder and several, kindred gentlemen to attend a reception at the Manhattan Club.

When the two met that evening—Mr. Croker and Mr. Bidder—a hearty handshake joined their thoughts. Semper alouit hacre! Last year Mr. Ridder had been kleked out—figuratively speaking of course.

Now it is all settled, out and dried, we suppose. The family of the quondam prourietor of the German-American Reform Union will be taken care of, and to that end the jack in the box performance must be given, i. e., the German-American Reform Union be revived.

It is a binft oure and simple, with the sole purpose of deceiving Mr. Croker, the German-American Reform Union is Reform.

pose of deceiving Mr. Craker, the German-American voters and the ruble at large.

The "Ridder-Union" may indores Judge Van Wyck to-night. The German-American Reform Union cannot do so, as it does not rightly and legally exist. ----

His reasons for declining are the following:

it. His reasons for decining are the following:

The old principles and dogmas which so long were held to be Demerratic and governed the party for which our forefathers fought at each election have been lost eight of and discarded. New ideas and principles have been adopted to which I cannot conscientiously subacribe. It has been a hard struggle to cut loose from the party which nursured me and which always received the best efforts of my grandfather, my father and myself up to this time, of the introduction of the silver plank into the Democratic platform. The action of the House last spring, when war with a foreign Power seemed inevitable and immediate appropriations of large sums of money were absolutely necessary to provide both the Army and the Navy win implements of war and ammunition, standing as they did as obstructionists on the measure, is not conductive to increased confidence in the principles and ideas which they as party leaders will advance. Belleving as ids, that every deltar of our currency should be of squal value and worth one hundred cents in every market in the world, and that our Army and Navy should be of sufficient strength to uphole the honer and dignity of the Nation by force, if necessary. POLITICIANS ON THE SATANELLA.

GUESTS OF PERRY BELMONT-TAMMANY LIKELY TO RENOMINATE JUSTICE DALY, BUT NOT JUSTICE COHEN.

About all the activity in Democratic politics yesterday went on aboard Perry Belmont's steam yacht Satanella. The Satanella was an auxiliary steam yacht in the service of the Government dur-ing the war, and the trip that Tammany authoritles took on her yesterday was to celebrate her return to the control of her owner. Among those whem Mr. Belmont had as his guests were Richard Troker, John F. Carroll, Senator McCarren, Randolph Guggenheimer, Corporation Counsel Whalen John S. Cosby, Sheriff Thomas J. Dunn, Senator John Fox, Andrew Freedman, Tax Co sioner Feitner, Bernard J. York, District-Attorney Asa Bird Gardiner, John Kelly and John B. Mc Donald. The party boarded the yacht at East Twenty-sixth-st., and the vessel steamed down the iver past the battle-ships Iowa and Oregon, which lay at anchor off Tompkinsville. The yacht did not go cutside the Hook, and returned late in the after-Last evening the talk about the Democratic Club seemed to indicate that Tammany had decided to renominate Justice Daly, but that Justice Cohen would probably not be indorsed. Charles H. In the morning he attended church as usual at the Church of the Incarnation. In the afternoon he received several cullers, whose missions were political and social. He gave the evening to his correspondence. He says he does not know when he will make his letter of acceptance public, but Senator McCarren says it may be expected today or to-morrow.

LIKELY TO BE NAMED BY TAMMANY. ASSEMBLY DISTRICT CONVENTIONS TO BE HELD TO-NIGHT-CHARLES H. HOYT

ON THE SLATE.

Tammany holds it Assembly District Conventions to-night, and will then nominate the men whom it hopes to elect to the Assembly. Nearly all the candidates have been decided upon by the powers that do those things in Tammany Hall. The leaders have canvassed the situation, have reported to the powers, and the powers have approved or overruled the decisions of the leaders. Of all the nominations, perhaps the most surprise will be caused by the nomination of Charles H. Hoyt the playwright, in the XXVth Assembly District, now represented in Albany by Francis E. Laimbeer. It has not been generally known that Mr. Hoyt was to enter politics in New-York. It was not so long since he was a member of the New-Hampshire Legislature. It will be interesting to know on what date he changed his residence from New-Hampshire to New-York. "Jinmy" Oliver, who was sergeant-at-arms for the Democratic State Committee when that body was making its canvass on the silver issue in 1896, is making a strong fight for the nomination in the III d District, and will probably be successful. Last night the Tammany slate for Assemblyman nominations looked to be as follows: uled the decisions of the leaders. Of all the nomi-

BACON SENDS MORE TROOPS.

ABOUT TWO HUNDRED MEN ORDERED TO PROTECT SETTLERS.

TOTAL FORCE AROUND LEECH LAKE WILL BE ABOUT SEVEN HUNDRED-FEAR OF INJURY TO DAMS.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 9.-General Bacon's orders for the movement of more troops to the vicinity of Leech Lake took ninety men from Fort Snelling on a special train last night. Two companies of the 14th Minnesota are held at Duluth, ready to start for points along the Fossion line of the Great Northern, where the two batteries of militia artillerymen have preceded them, and to-night another company of the 14th, made up of fifty men from Company E, of Merriam Park, and fifty from the guard stationed in charge of Camp Van Dusee, where the 14th is to be mustered out, were ordered to take the 9 o'clock train to-morrow morning for emed to indicate that Tammany had decided to These last will take with them the equipment of the two Duluth companies which was left at Camp Van Dusee when the men were furloughed. The Government is particularly anxious about the danger to the dams at the headwaters of the Mississippi, only a small guard having been stationed there since the trouble with the Indians came on.

points along that same road.

By to-morrow night over seven hundred sol-dlers will be scattered all around Leech Lake protecting settlers and property from the pos-sible attack of the uncertain number of Indians now in arms against the Government.

SETTLERS AT FERRIS ALARMED. REPORTS OF A WHITE MAN'S MURDER-CITIZENS GUARDING THE TOWN.

St. Paul Minn., Oct. 9.-A "Pioneer Press" dispatch from Ferris, Minn., a small town north of Leech Lake, says: "A report reached here late this evening of the killing of a white man near Bear Island to-day. Settlers living near the Indian reservation are sooking shelter in towns along the railroad. About one hundred and fifty Indians were reported late this evening camped within two miles north of this town. Armed citizens are guarding the town expecting an attack during the night or early morning.

"Indians professing to be friendly were at Gracland, one and a half miles west of here, this evening, trying to purchase ammunition."

REINFORCEMENTS AT WALKER. FRIENDLY INDIANS MAINTAIN A CLOSE WATCH BEAR ISLANDERS ARRIVE.

Walker, Minn., Oct. 9.-When the troops reached the agency they found that the friendly Indians had maintained a picket line covering the whole line of woods which surround the settlement. As many as fifty of the Indians have dene picket duty. Now that the troops are on the grounds, these formal preparations for defence will probably be abandoned, but there will be Indian scouts out all the time, ready to bring prompt warning of anything that even looks dangerous. It is said by those who know them that these Agency Indians would not hesitate to kill a hostile as quickly as would a soldier. Last night Mah-Ge-Gay-Bow, one of the head men of the Bear Island Indians, arrived on the Agency point with twenty-seven canceloads of the Bear Islanders, comprising those of them who are for peace.

MR. BATES AND THE HORSE SHOW.

THE REASON ALLEGED WHY HIS HORSES WERE NOT SHOWN AT MORRISTOWN.

Morristown, N. J., Oct. 9 (Special).-The Morrisown Horse Show came to a successful close yes-erday afternoon, and the officers and members of the Field Club, on whom rested the responsibility, feel relieved, pleased and disappointed; pointed because of the ainy weather of the last day, relieved and pleased to know that their work and worry are over, and that the show was a sucand worry are ever, and that the show was a success, socially and financially.

President Eillot Smith, Secretary J. M. Shaw, W. J. Romaine, the judges and many of the members expressed themselves very freely yesterday upon the action of Charles F. Bates, the Now-York borseman, in withdrawing all his entries. According to Mr. Bates, one of the judges, Thomas Maitland, treated him unfairly at the Long Branch Herse Show. These men named say that this was not the reason at all; that the facts are that Mr. Bates declined to show his horses here unless the club would guarantee him at least $500 in prize money, and this the club declined to do.
